CANDIDATES CARDS
To the Democratic voters of Appomattox and Buckingham:
I am a candidate to succed Col. A. J. Terrell as representative of this district in the House of Delegates, subject to nomination in the August primary. Your support will be appreciated.
Calvin H. Robinson,
Appomattox, Va.

I wish to announce myself a candidate for State Senator from the Eleventh senatorial district of Virginia, comprising the counties of Appomattox, Buckingham, Charlotte and Cumberland, subject to the Democratic primary of August 6. I earnestly solicit the support of the people of the district and look to the opptunity of seeing you personally during the campaign.
Respectfully,
CHAS. T. MOSES

To the Voters of Appomattox, Buckingham, Cumberland and Charlotte Counties, constituting the Eleventh State Senatorial District of Virginia:
After mature consideration, I have decided to become a candidate for the office of State Senator from the Eleventh Senatorial District of Virginia, and do herewith announce that I am a candidate for this office, subject to the Democratic Primary to be held on the sixth day of August, 1935.
It is not my idea to solicit your votes by the making of extravagant promises as to what I will be able to do for you if I am nominated and elected. I do promise, however, that if I am successful, I will impartially represent the four counties composing the district. I realize that no candidate is entitled to support unless he proposes to serve his district faithfully, honestly and to the best of his ability, and you can depend on my rendering this kind of service to our district if nominated and elected.
I will appreciate the support of the voters of the District and, if honored with it, will do by best to merit their confidence.
J. KENT EARLY.

To the voters of Appomattox County:
I am a candidate to succeed myself as Commissioner of the Revenue, subject to the Democratic Primary on August 6,1935.
I sincerely thank you for your kind support and cooperation in the past and hereby ask for your support in the coming Primary. I promise if elected I will faithfully discharge the duties o the office as I have tried to do heretofore.

To The Voters of the 11th Senatorial District

Throughout my campaign for the senatorial nomination, I have tried to keep it on a clean and dignified plane, and not allow it to degenerate into a contest of misrepresentation and falsehood such as sometimes disgraces these party contests. I believe my friends and supporters have done likewise and have refrained from all muddlesling. Rumors are constantly coming to me, however, which seem to indicate that some of the supporters of my opponent have no such scruples. I have not thought it necessary heretofore to dignify these campaign rumors with a public reply, believing that the good sense of the voters will prompt them to see the absurdity of such charges, and the motives of those who stoop to put them out. During the last few days I am informed that a report is being industriously circulated that I am opposed to the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and the efforts of the National Government to help the farmers through crop reduction, and other agricultural policies, generally referred to as the A. A. A. Program. Since this report concerns my stand on a public question, I am glad to state my position on it.
I believe that the A. A. A. program is the first intelligent effort in this nation to extend to farmers as a class, benefits similiar to those long enjoyed by industry under tariff laws. I believe that farmers are not only as much entitled to government help as industry, but that the protection of their interests is absolutely necessary to the prosperity of the nation. I am in hearty sympathy with the A. A. A. program and policies, and want to see the welfare of the farmers made a paramount concern of government. In my announcement I have pledged myself to stand for all legislation which will help the farmers of the state, and especially of this district, and I am glad of this opportunity to re-affirm that pledge.
A matter certain to come before the next Legislature is the matter of providing for Old Age Pensions. I am in favor of the principle of providing greater security for the aged, and will favor in the Legislature the matching of federal appropriations for this purpose by the state, provided a source of revenue can be found which will not place additional burdens of taxation on real estate and tangible personal property. I do not favor legislation which will make necessary to sell the homes of those who have them to provide pensions for others.
It has also come to my attention that the report has been circulated in Appomattox County that I have received some 300 negroes in Charlotte County to pay their poll tax and register in order to vote for me. I want to brand this statement as absolutely false. It is true that the names of some 300 negroes appear on our registration list, but this number is no more than generally appear but it and not near so many as we have had. Less than 40 negroes are registered in our county, notwithstanding that the negro population comprises almost one half of the population of Charlotte County, and I vent to take this opportunity to say that not a single negro vote will be cast in the Primary in Charlotte County. The report that negroes are going to vote in Charlotte County in the Primary, or that we ever at any time planned or contemplated them voting is absolutely false. It is being maliciously circulated in an effort to prejudice the voters of Appomattox County against me, and shows to what length people will go in an effort to gain votes.
In conclusion, I take this opportunity of thanking all those who have worked for my election and expect to support me with their votes. I am grateful, and will do all I can in the Senate to deserve your confidence.
Sincerely yours,

J. Kent Early

Wheat Production Too High

What farmers still have a production adjustment problem, if this year's total crop comes up to the estimated 731 million bushels. Add the July 1 carryover of 160 million bushels, subtract the 625 million bushels for export and carryover, export markets are hard to find; home, there will be about a hundred million bushels to burden domestic markets.

The new wheat contract soon to be offered will provide wheat producers with a method for controlling their own production and reducing this burdensome surplus next season.

As Every Farmer Knows
Many farm products are bringing it more cash. Receipts from sales of principal farm products in May this year as compared showed 69 million more dollars in the farmers collective pocket. Total receipts in May 1934 were 424 million dollars; in May this year, 493 million. Some crops brought in less than last year, but going in returns from livestock more than made up the losses.

Butter For Bread Lines
The AAA has awarded contracts for the purchas of 8,312,650 pounds of dairy products and has requested bids on an additional 5 million pounds of butter and 2 million pounds of cheese. Cheese is a dual purpose: removing surpluses of dairy products and providing food for families on relief. All purchases are turned over to the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation.

Production Credit Mounts
Production Credit association loans of farmers now total 87 million dollars, the first six months of 1935. Over one-quarter of all loans totaled only 52 million dollars. The increase is due to the expansion in membership of the new farm cooperative credit association, which served only 88,200 farmers up to June 30 of last year but reached 155,800 the first six months of 1935.

Dearborn, Mich., July 24—"My big job at this time of days is distributing wealth in a form that people can use it," Henry Ford said today, as he smiled broadly and handed over a preliminary production figures for the first six months of the year.
Last November Ford announced that he would build "a million cars a year" in 1935. With the first half month's figures show that, up to June 30th, the Ford Motor Company has built 810,760 units in the United States and Canada, Foreign Manufacture is for the six month period was 367,834, bringing the total world production up to 1,178,594.
"And then did you expect to pass the 1,000,000 mark?" Mr. Ford was asked.
The manufacturer is putting a fine coat of tan and say doing to be the best sprits, as he smiled as he said: "Now,Now, that's something else again, I'm just a manufacturer not a prophet. Our men have had work for which our whole organization is thankful. There are many things that lead us to be hopeful for the next six months. But we're not dead certain. We are just doing the best we can."

Working Well
There was much conjecture and anxiety felt by a large number of Virginians, who have been and are desirous of a successful and equitable control of the sale of alcoholic beverages in the state. Many of this group are neither radically dry or wet and therefore, are in a position to view the matter from an unbiased standpoint, and with an open and free mind.
The splendid management by the present Alcoholic Beverage Control board has done much to allay the fear of those who expected the return of the open saloon and the orgy of liquor turned loose in the state. On of the most ardent drys, Honorable Frank S. Ivey, who previously was a bridge County in the Virginia House of Delegates, is among the most recent converts. Mr. Moore has recently expressed his belief: "that Virginia Alcoholic Control system is a solution to our liquor problem."
The members of this board are S. Hall Tyler, R. MacBullings, and M. C. Franks, three outstanding Virginians, and their unquestionable integrity has placed the much-discussed and vexed question on a high plane and they are justly receiving the support of thousands of Virginians as their constructive and commendable work.

Likes His Ford

Joe Heidelmeier's opponents laugh when he entered his truck in a stock car race at Washington, D. C., last Labor day, but Joe collected the cash prize, which further goes to show that the laugh's on the laughs last, laughs best."
It was while Heidelmeier won the car race that Ford Motor Co. officials first noticed the driver, and began to keep tabs on him. Enter-ing against him were seven 1935 models of the latest passenger cars manufactured last year.
"We were give a flying start", Heidelmeier reports. "I took the lead and maintained it until the finish. On the Ford model was the perfect balance of the truck made steering easy. Though some of the passenger cars had windshields and tops removed for racing, my truck kept to standard equipment in every respect."
Heidelmeier uses his truck for emergency trips in his business as oil well drilling contractor.
"Almost without exception," Heidelmeier says, "I have used Ford cars for the past 15 years, and, at present, I am using a model T motor in a drilling machine for my own salesmanship. With this machine, I have drilled approximately 300 wells, and, at present, have operated the machine continously for more than 50 hours."

Set Good-Sized Eggs

Selection of hatching eggs for large size must not be carried to an extreme. Farmers who do their own hatching often make the mistake of keeping oversize eggs while best results are to be had from eggs weighing 26 to 28 ounces to the dozen. Hens hatched from such eggs should produce good-sized eggs that will bring best market prices. Hens hatched from small eggs usually produce small eggs. The competition which Middle Western egg producers face in Eastern markets calls for larger eggs.—Prairie Farmer.

Washed Hatching Eggs O.K.

According to tests reported by the Department of Wales (Australia) department of agriculture, washing hatching eggs did not affect hatchability. Dirty eggs and washed eggs hatched as well as clean eggs, but dirty eggs increase the possibility of infection in the incubator. If necessary to set dirty eggs, therefore, it is best to wash them if possible although the safest measure is found to be set only perfectly clean eggs that is, eggs that are clean but unwashed.

Life Insurance Leads In Business Recovery Analyst Finds In Survey

CHICAGO—The life insurance business has emerged from the five-year period of depression with the best record of any other division of business in the United States, it is announced by H. A. Davis, Chicago, independent life insurance analyst and authority on completion of a survey covering approximately 99 per cent of the life insurance in force. Mr. Davis, president of the company bearing his name, surveyed every legal reserve company in the country.

Every vital department of the business, with the exception of the total insurance in force, shows a gain over 1929 Mr. Davis stated. He attributes the gains to a more aggressive sales policy, supported by increased advertising expenditures.

Assets, premium income and number of policy holders registered increases while total insurance in force decreased, the study disclosed.

Assets at the beginning of 1935 stood at $22,523,000,000 compared with $18,790,000,000 at the end of 1929; premium income during the first year of the depression totaled $2,779,000,000 against $3,622,000,000 in 1929; policy holders numbered somewhat in excess of 65,000,000 compared with approximately 61,500,000 in 1929 and total insurance in force stood at $105,639,000,000 compared with $109,000,000,000 at the end of 1929.

"The business as a whole" Mr. Davis stated, "is in a better position today than in the boom period, with more assets behind every thousand dollars of insurance than in 1929."

More life insurance companies than ever are now backing up their

cent over the preceding year, he stated.
"The remarkable depression period just ended" said Mr. Davis, "is due to a combination of factors, including scientific management, wide diversification of risks in investing the monies of the policy holders and the sustained public confidence in life insurance as a form of protection."
Mr. Davis is recognized as a leading authority on life insurance and its allied phases, including management and investment. He has spent more than 20 years in the business and, as an independent analyst, he has studied insurance from the standpoint of the buyer as well as that of the company.

Better Breakfasts

NOBODY minds getting up on a fine Spring morning—nobody but those of us who have been out late the fine Spring night before. But since we have a way of staying out these fine Spring nights, why not use a little culinary persuasion? Here is a breakfast that smells so good in the making that only a doddering head could lie abed.
And even a doddering head remain inert only until the coffee began to percolate. If it is vacuum-packed coffee, it smells like a million dollars because the flavor is fresh and the result, though inexpensive, is priceless, indeed.

Canned or Preserved Figs with Cream
Flaked Cereal
Scrambled Corn on Toast
Jelly Muffins
Coffee

Scrambled Corn on Toast: Dice three slices of bacon and fry until crisp, but avoid burning. If the bacon is very fat, pour off all but two tablespoons of the hot drippings. Heat six eggs slightly, add the contents of one No. 2 can of creamy corn, three-fourths cup of milk and salt and pepper to taste. Pour into the hot bacon fat and cook very slowly, stirring constantly, until creamy. Serve on buttered toast. This serves six."

SEES INFLATION A SLOW PROCESS

A Real Danger for the Future, Col. Ayres Tells Banking Groups.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J.—Present prospects do not indicate that inflation severe enough to cause further dollar devaluation will come soon in this country, but as an ultimate development it seems to be a very real danger, Leonard P. Ayres, Vice President Cleveland Trust Company, said here tonight in an address before the Graduate School of Banking. He believed this statement to be true "unless the recovery movement enters frankly upon a policy of issuing fiat money with which to meet its expenses." At present that does not seem to be in sight, he said.
The Graduate School is operated jointly by the American Institute of Banking Section of the American Bankers Association and Rutgers University to offer advanced studies for bank officers.
"We have so enormously increased the capacity of our banking system for credit expansion that it is difficult to see how we could have a vigorous business revival without finding it develop into a credit inflation," Colonel Ayres declared.

Inflation a Slow Process
If inflation does come it will be a slow process, he said, pointing out that in Germany, France, Belgium and Italy it took about five years to develop from the time when the governments entered upon policies of financing large peace-time deficits by bank credit up to the time when the public generally began to spend money rapidly because of fear that it would until further depreciate in purchasing power.
"If we are to go through such a period here I would seem likely that it might last rather longer than the corresponding periods did abroad," he said. "Its beginning would daw from the spring of 1933 when we left the old gold basis for our money and entered upon the policy of financing large governmental deficits by the sale of Federal securities mainly to banks rather than to private investors.
"The method that we are following is the one that proved disastrous in Europe for in all those countries including Germany, the increasing issues of money that caused the inflation were not mere printing press issue of fiat currency, but were secured by government bonds and notes discounted at the banks. Nevertheless, the process is inherently a slow one."
Among the clearest lessons taught by the European experience, Colonel Ayres asserted, is that there are "no good hedges against inflation." He added:

Did Not Lighten Debt Burdens
"One of the strange facts about these inflations is that while they destroyed the values of most existing debts, they did not succeed in lightening the debt burdens of either the people as a whole, or of the corporations.
"Inflation destroys the value of bonds and mortgages and so confiscates the property of these holders of obligations and hands it over to the shareholders and the equity owners. However, it introduces so many new economic difficulties that these share and equity holders are at once forced to incur new indebtedness so that when stabilization comes the problems of debt are almost as troublesome as they were before, or even more so."
The five requisites of inflation were listed by Colonel Ayres as first, a period of sustained active business; second, a rising stock market; third, real credit expansion; fourth, greater outflow of gold "than we can tolerate which would force us to cut our currency entirely free from gold"; and fifth, continued large budget deficits in government operation.
